Disclaimer

This report is designed to provide a high level overview of the financial viability and capacity of a nominated counterparty. The opinion in this report is valid at the time of the assessment. The scope of this report does not include an ongoing review of the credit quality of the entity, and it is strongly recommended a further assessment be conducted within twelve months from the date of this report.

While these assessments do not provide an official credit rating, they do provide an indicative rating as a guide to the likely credit quality of the entity. Equifax Australasia Credit Ratings Pty Ltd makes no warranty and does not guarantee this would be the official rating assigned within our Credit Rating Report.

As such this report provides an initial assessment, being qualified on the basis of limited analysis for credit rating purposes. We strongly recommend an official credit rating is obtained on the counterparty, particularly for higher risk, longer duration and/or larger exposures. Equifax's Credit Rating Report provides a more comprehensive investigation and due diligence assessment than provided within this report.

The report and the information contained herewith is 'Commercial in Confidence' and is for the exclusive use of your organisation and shall not be disclosed to any other person or entity without the express written consent of Equifax Australasia Credit Ratings Pty Ltd. The report should be taken as a whole and cannot be abridged or excerpted for any reason.
